SIR ROBERT IN LONDON

While the narrow-minded near-sighted newspapers were feverishly demanding that Sir Robert Borden should return to Canada, that the premier of the Dominion should be at Ottawa attending to piquant policies which evidently form the scope of their political vision, Sir Robert—as is now made public and as was understood by those in touch with national and international affairs—was actually consulting for Canada important new relations with the Empire. The arrangement by which Canada will have permanent representation in the Imperial War Cabinet direct communication between the governments in Ottawa and London, is a constitutional achievement of first importance and one which would probably not have been brought about in early years had it not been for those freer and more candid relations which have been an accompaniment of war co-operation and the ability of our statesmen to take advantage of them.

It is significant too that while his personal enemies were feverishly demanding that Sir Robert was being highly appreciated by the British press which understood the importance of the issue being considered. The words of commendation of the London Times were only a small contribution to the general chorus of approval. "Canada" pointedly expressed regret "to observe that during Sir Robert's absence in England an opportunity has been taken in Canada to make attacks upon his leadership and policy." The Morning Post, after stating that it understood that "his presence is wanted at home," added, "But we should say to our kinsfolk that we can ill spare our best man at the most critical time in the history of the Empire and that their services here will, in fact, benefit the Dominions as much as the Mother Country." For their recognition of Sir Robert's services was given by the Daily Telegraph, which said editorially:

It must have been a great joy to Sir Robert Borden and his colleagues to know and feel the marked change that has supervened between the opening and closing meetings of the Imperial War Conference. Last year Sir Robert Borden carried back with him across the Atlantic the anxious conviction that he and his government must face the problem of the future for Canada. How he triumphed is known to all. This year he will go back with a lighter heart, and though no official record of the proceedings of the Conference has yet been published, we may justly be officially told out of the great transforming imperial changes, dear to the Dominions, that of Imperial Preference, has now been considered and the British Government—Financial Post.

U. F. A.

The half yearly meeting of the shareholders in the U. F. A. Co-operative Association held on Saturday last. There was a small attendance, owing to near approach of threshing operations, which kept many away. The report of the auditors, Messrs Kinnaird and Henderson, of Edmonton, covering the period January 1st to June 30th, was submitted to the meeting, and the very satisfactory showing which they were able to report was met with much approval by the members.

The report stated that all organization work had been paid out of the profits earned during the period, and considering that very little business was done in the months of January and February, this was looked upon as extremely satisfactory.

Three of the board of trustees retired, their term of office having transpired, and in the election which was held to fill the vacancies, Messrs T. C. Larsen, J. McInnes and P. J. Peterson were appointed to the Board for a period of eighteen months.

The question of raising additional working capital was discussed, and it was felt that in view of the satisfactory development, that had been made, offered the farmers of the district would readily take up the stock, and it was decided to proceed actively with the work of raising the necessary amount of capital.

FOOD LINE WAS SAVED

"How the Food Line Was Saved" is the title of an article in the London Times from a well informed correspondent, who tells of the many anxious days early this year, when food shipments from North America were not moving satisfactorily and German submarines were taking a heavy toll.

The correspondent says:—

"The accumulated wheat crops of Australia and the New Zealand wheat and butter supplies were, for all practical purposes, so far as we were concerned, non-existent. Shipping companies then demanded that our diminished mercantile marine should be, as far as possible, used and rested on the shortest journey to our nearest available markets, which were, and still are, North and South America."

After a reference to the prohibition of export of wheat from the United States, congestion, he adds:—

"In January and February whole cargoes of precious British wheat waited idle for weeks in American ports for the transloads of provisions that were snowed up by German submarines inland. As a consequence, exports of American breadstuffs, which, by international agreement with the Allies, should have amounted to 1,000,000 tons for the month of January only reached a total of 680,000 tons."

The imports of bacon for January had been relied upon to reach nearly 60,000 tons. Only 11,000 tons arrived.

The imports were proportionately short. Reports received by the Ministry of Food showed that, owing to the breakdown of imports, the country was consuming nearly 450,000 tons of food a month more than the margin of safety permitted.

"The war cabinet anxiously discussed the advisability of compulsory rationing of bread, and immediately authorized Lord Rhodes to ration meat, poultry, bacon and butter. In spite of this, for several weeks there was an open question whether there would be enough meat and bacon to give everyone his limited per capita allowance. The wheat commission ordered compulsory milling up to the extreme limit, and took every possible measure to ake out our daily dwindling cereal supply."

CUTTING REVEALS SURPRISES MANY DISTRICTS

Reports received by the Department of Agriculture during the past week show harvest in full swing and general throughout the whole province.

Cutting has revealed surprises in many districts where little was expected, as a fair crop is being reaped. Reports from the Peace River country are particularly optimistic, and should the weather be favorable, they are assured of a splendid harvest.

Cutting is well advanced in the southern districts and threshing will commence early next week. The weather has been somewhat irregular, but some localities considerable rain has fallen.

Feed has improved and the outlook for the live stock problem is encouraging.

The explosion at the power house has caused considerable inconvenience in town. It is unfortunate, that the gas engine which was purchased nearly three ago was not in shape to put into business. An inquiry regarding the matter obtained the information that it will be ready in another year and eleven months. We sincerely hope that it will not be any longer than that or we may have to move out of town. The old engine, we are told is being fixed up at the power house and will probably be ready for use in about a week. Meanwhile preparation to start the gas engine will still go on. A practice of retiring at sunset and rising at sunrise will over come the inconvenience caused by the "bust up" at the power house. While the town water supply is in the city, a good supply can be obtained at the Wilton hotel.

The United States government has requested the auto owners in the States to stop joy riding on Sundays, and it is reported that a saving of 8,000,000 gallons has been made in this way.

TRAINING THE BLIND

Arrangements have been made by the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment whereby returned blinded soldiers in need of training which cannot be given in Canada may be sent back to England to receive that training at St. Dunstan's Hotel.

While it has always been the policy of the Department to have blinded Canadian soldiers trained at St. Dunstan's a very few of the fifty odd, who comprise the total have returned to Canada for various reasons without receiving sufficient to establish them in civil life. Some of these have been given training in Canada in courses which institutions in this country are able to give. But when it develops that a blinded soldier's best interests would be served by having him trained in some occupation not taught at one of the Canadian institutions, the Department can now send him back to England for the necessary course.

They will, of course, receive the Canadian rate of vocational pay and allowances during the period of training.

BUSINESS MEN RECOGNIZE "SHOCK TROOPS"

Owing to a scarcity of labor a number of farmers have been unable to get sufficient help to harvest their crops, and the business men of the town have organized "Shock Troops" to help out.

On Tuesday and Wednesday evenings a party of fifteen motored to the farm of Phil Low, west of town, and stocked over sixty acres of wheat.

EMBARGO ON ALBERTA GRAIN

An order issued by the board of grain supervisors for Canada provides that no grain shall be shipped out of Alberta, and that no grain shall be transferred by any railroad company inside Alberta without a permit from the board. This prohibition is in force for the purpose of insuring a sufficient supply of grain for local consumption other than seed. This embargo will continue in effect until proper authorities have had an opportunity to provide seed grain in elevators warrant removal of the embargo.

WASTE GRAIN AT THRESHING

The U.F.A. draws attention to the desirability of saving every bushel of grain at threshing time. The drought and frost have made this more essential than ever. It has been suggested that teams at threshing time should be muzzled so that they cannot interfere with the stock, that tight bottom racks should be used, and also that the separator owner should provide a large sheet under the separator to catch grain which would otherwise be thrown on the ground. One of the locals recently wrote the Food Controller on this matter, and the reply received pointed out that it would be very difficult to enforce such a regulation, and that the result might be accomplished if all locals take the matter up and request their members to try to observe these conditions.

WANTS 50 PER CENT. WAR PROFITS TAX

Last week Secretary of the Treasury Mr. McAdoo met the Ways and Means Committee of the House in Washington, and urged that there be a straight percentage of eight per cent on the expenditure for the year June 30, 1918, to June 30, 1919, the secretary estimated at $24,000,000,000, and of this he urged that at least $5,000,000,000 be raised by taxation, and in order to raise this amount in an equitable manner he urged that the present tax be raised to 18 per cent of all profits in excess of those realized in any business before the war. He distinguished between this tax and an excess profits tax that the latter was a tax on all profits over a certain per cent, while the former was largely due to the war, and which are to be measured by comparing them with pre-war profits. Incidentally Secretary McAdoo declared it to be the conviction of all patriotic men, of every economic and political school, that no other price is largely by the war, and he argued that the levying of the eighty per cent. tax on war profits would meet the views of all true patriots. He would retain the excess profits tax with some modifications, but he would also use this eighty per cent. tax on war profits. Apart from a very few men who think that probably as a step in the right direction—Christian Guardian.

THE VALUE OF GOOD ROADS

In the state of Indiana it is asserted that the average selling price of farm land has been increased about $4.48 per acre by the improvement of the roads, and the farmers estimate that if all the roads were improved land values would be increased $9 per acre. This really means that the roads are depreciating the value of every 100 acres about $900. Another investigation carried on by the Office of Road Inquiry at Washington shows that good roads increase the values of farm land from $5 to $20 per acre. Every farmer knows that proximity to a good market increases the value of a farm, and the good road really brings the good market closer to the farm. The advent of the auto has done a good deal to stimulate the demand for good roads, and Governments are wisely taking hold of the matter and helping to secure the construction of such roads. Then the consideration of schools and churches is emphasizing the advantages and the necessity of roads which are always not only passable, but ready to passable. Good roads are a help to community life, and a stimulus to good farming, and the man who helps to secure them is doing a noble and good work—Christian Guardian.

SOME SPLENDID FIGURES

It is estimated that the consumption of sea-fish in Ontario, since the Canada Food Board started its campaign, has been increased by 200 per cent. In Western Canada the increase is placed at 100 per cent, and in Quebec at 25 per cent. For the whole Dominion there has been an increase of from 50 to 75 per cent.

Cautious Quite a Bit

Sugar rationing is now a strong stunt in the restaurants of Calgary, and a notice which has been placed on the wall by Kohl & McCaw is causing quite a stir. It says:

"Sugar is scarce—use what you get but stir like hell—we don't mind the noise."

Rev. W. J. Dick Inducted

There was a good congregation assembled in the United Church on the 15th, to attend the ceremony of inducting Rev. W. J. Dick, the new minister.

There were three other ministers present from different points in the south. Rev. Mr. Reid, of Staveland, was in charge of the service. Rev. Mr. Stevenson, of Nanton, addressed the minister, and Rev. Mr. Nicholson, of High River, addressed the people. Principle Young presided at the organ and there were a number in the choir.

After the service was over, refreshments were provided by the ladies in the basement of the church, and a very pleasant time was spent—Oktoke Review.

TOTAL REGISTRATION IN CANADA OVER 5,000,000

A total registration of considerably in excess of five millions, including several hundred thousand men trained in agriculture but at present otherwise engaged, are the striking facts of the interim report of the registration board, which under the direction of Senator Robertson took a census power registration of Canada on Saturday, June 22.

"Registration," says the report, "has demonstrated beyond question that we have in Canada an abundant supply of labor, experienced in farming and willing, upon request, to devote itself to farming but which is at present employed in other occupations. In the provinces of Ontario and Manitoba alone there have been 400,000 men and women registered, and placed in the hands of county committees by means of registration the names of over 14,000 men with some training in agriculture, whose services are available as harvest hands should they be required."

"If the census men from all parts of Canada were thoroughly scrutinized for farm prospects the labor shown to be available would properly prove conclusively that there is no shortage of men who have left the farm for overseas service we still have a force with which we can maintain our production at its present level, or even increase it if necessary."

The report states that as a result of the registration the board could in the national interest, mobilize labor quickly towards any form of production.

"Were the unexpected to happen," says the report, "and were the United States to serve notice on us that even if all exports of soft coal to Canada would be absolutely cut off, in less than three days we could furnish the government with enough men to meet present addresses of every man in the country experienced in coal mining, and who were employed therewith."

And thought they would help the rest in the fight. The whole people Germany with shot and shell. And the world won't have peace till Bill's sale in HELL.

Use no more sugar than you need and stir your beverages until the sugar is entirely dissolved.

Why Sugar Rate was Changed

Mr. Henry Dayton, chairman of the railway committee, in commenting on the reduction on the freight rate on sugar he said: "I find that sugar sells in the different markets without the slightest regard to the freight rate. For example, in western territory while the B. C. refinery at Vancouver pays freight rates to Winnipeg which have varied from 75 to 80¢, effective since March 15 last, that company sells its sugar in Winnipeg at the same price that it sells it in Vancouver, where it pays no freight rate at all."

THE ATTITUDE OF THE CHURCH TOWARDS LABOR

(Contributed)
Labor organizations view with suspicion the attitude of the Christian church towards them. It has come to be accepted among them that the English church on one of his trips to England that it belonged to the church. It is precisely this relationship between Organized Labor and the Church that we are to consider.

What right has the church to speak on the subject of labor? It has the right of a society professing to have a programme of life that will meet its every necessity. No programme of life would be complete which does not take into consideration the part which modern labor plays in history in a manner unknown before the latter part of the nineteenth century organized labor has become one of the decisive factors in daily life. How large a part labor plays in modern life is made very evident to us when a railway strike or a postal strike takes place. In a way that is very real we are made to feel that organized labor is a factor with which we have to deal. It is a factor in the world which has been necessary to consider in any way the attitude which labor as such would have towards any society. We have been waged without any consideration being made of the attitude which working classes might have towards them in this war, however, the situation is wholly changed. Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain and President Wilson of the United States have both been very anxious to have behind them in their conduct of the war, and moral support of organized labor. It is this organized labor which is so decisive a factor in our modern life that has become suspicious of the church.

What is the position of the church in regard to labor problems? The church is in the position of a moral society having to pronounce judgment on all those questions in which the ethical element predominates. On any question which the church feels that the teachings of the carpenter of Nazareth have pronounced an opinion the Church must reaffirm that opinion. It is with the principles that under lay life that the carpenter of Nazareth ever dealt. The mode in which those principles expressed themselves might vary from age to age. With these the great Teacher had little to do. It was the principles of life that engaged his attention. It is on the principles that underlie modern life that the church must take its stand. The church's decisions must be in keeping with those given by its Founder.

One of the fundamental principles taught by Jesus was the brotherhood of man. It was indeed the basic principle of the society he founded. Everything therefore which was incompatible with the spirit of brotherhood could not receive its approbation. When Paul of Tarsus sent Onesimus back to Philemon no longer a slave but a "brother beloved" he sounded the death knell of slavery. Slavery was incompatible with brotherhood and brotherhood was the basic principle of Christianity hence slavery must go. It took a long time in the history of the world to convince even Christians that the basic principle of their religion involved the destruction of slavery, but ultimately the church came to realize it. In these days we have passed from one phase of slavery to another. No longer are we physically slaves but we are economic slaves.

As the basic principle of brotherhood condemned slavery in one form so it condemns it in any form. Economic slavery is no more just according to the teachings of Jesus than physical slavery was. Economic slavery is therefore at variance with the fundamental law of Christianity. It is because of this that monopolies are wrong. No man has any right to the control of those things which are essential to the life of his fellowman. The spirit which would utilize economic control of others as the lever by which to attain wealth is incompatible with the spirit of Christianity. In her conferences at different times the church has declared her attitude towards the monopolies.

In our consideration of these things, however, care should be taken not to interpret "brotherhood" of the laboring classes only. We should then lay ourselves out to the charge of being the church of class just as we have seen charges laid against the church of the rich. Brotherhood must be interpreted to include both employer and employee.

It should be made plain to all by declaration and by policy that the church embraces all, stands for all, and is controlled by no section or class. In this capacity as leader we should be able to say of the church, "The church is of the people and for the people." The church is of the people and for the people.

"Not swaying to this fraction or to that."
"Nor making his high place the lawless perch."
"Of winged ambition, nor a vantage ground."
"Of measure; but through all this tract of years."
"Wearing the white flower of a blameless life."
"Before a thousand peering little-eyes."
"In that fierce light which beats upon a throne."
"And blackens every spot."

In illustrating its basic principles of "brotherhood" the church has come to realize that such principle must find economic expression. It was one of the clearest thinkers among church leaders who said some years ago at a church conference that the first charge upon any industry must be the payment of a living wage. "To this declaration conference after conference of church people, has subscribed. It has been taught from a thousand pulpits. No one realizes more than a man like the present Bishop of London, who for years worked as an ordinary person in the slums of London, how necessary a "living wage" is.

The Social Service Councils of the various churches have been for years educating the members of their churches to a wider interpretation of the spirit of "brotherhood." They have realized and are teaching others to realize that the same has come when the workman must cease to be regarded as a "hiredling." Soundings of the spirit of the life saying attributed to Chas. Schwab that he had no men working "for him, but men who were working "with him" must pass into our industrial life. The church realizes that the workman must be given an interest in the business and a share in the control of the conditions which govern it, and under which he labors. It is, however, no part of the church's business to enter into commerce. Her work is with the principles that govern industry. It is hers to assert that the principles of "brotherhood" must find economic expression; that those who are members of her community and conduct business must conduct them in keeping with the law of brotherhood. It is the creation of an atmosphere in which injustice cannot live that the church must find her work. The creation of that atmosphere created by Christian labor that laws against slavery and legislation such as the "Factory Act" were born. It was the law of brotherhood, as taught by Christianity, that gave them birth. It is the continuation of this teaching that the church is called to do. The church must not impose its will by force since the spirit of compulsion is contrary to its nature. The church can only teach and teach the principles of brotherhood until something of its spirit and meaning dwells in even the dull and most selfish minds.

It was Paul of Tarsus who said: "God hath made of one blood all nations of man to dwell on the face of the earth." The spirit of brotherhood taught by Christianity was urged by Shakespeare as the strongest possible reason why a request should be granted.

"Brother: for in that name doth nature plead."

(Titus Andronicus)

ADMIRE THE ENGLISH

The Canadian-American, Chicago: Clear-sighted Americans returning from the other side after weeks and months of cordial and close acquaintance, are full of admiration for the formerly despised Albion. They emphasize British generosity, British industry, British patriotism, British pluck and steadfastness. The discovery of these virtues came to them as a great surprise; they had expected shallowness and materialism abroad, and they had found a people who were willing to sacrifice. They also found a much higher grade of statesmanship in the House of Lords, than they had been taught to look for. Judge Lindsey, the famous Children's Court jurist of Denver, who was in England for some time, came back from London, stated that "the old conservative House of Lords has been buying itself in giving the people the best child legislation the world has yet seen." Judge Lindsey says it amazed him to find British reform in America and all the other countries at the very time that British army was struggling desperately with a powerful foe which menaced the Empire's foundations.

ABOUT KERENSKY

The London Chronicle declares that "Yerensky's retention in England is approved by those best acquainted with his record. It calls attention to the main facts of this. He is of German extraction, but took the name of his mother, and before the revolution he was a pacifist, and said he did not regard the Germans as enemies. At a great meeting of the Social Revolutionary party he advocated immediate peace without annexation. When minister of justice he issued a decree which destroyed the Russian armies of the Allies of victory last year and is responsible for the deaths of several hundred thousand men. He arranged a welcome for Lenin, Trotsky and Kamenev, who he knew were sent into Russia by German spies, and especially with Stalin, who he knew was a German spy. The German council-general at Madrid said publicly that under Kerensky Russian generals were appointed by the general staff. That is why Kerensky dismissed patriots like Kornilov and Keldine, whom he ordered to be arrested. He abolished the law courts and after abolishing the law courts of the Duma he abolished it. He lived in great splendor at the winter palace, from which he fled, leaving the woman's battalion of Duma and the young cadets to be killed by the Bolsheviks, as many were.

The opinion is expressed that if the Allies have anything to do with man who is loathed by all friends, of order in Russia they will injure themselves seriously in the eyes of the latter. A Siberian Cossack said that if Kerensky were with the allied forces in Siberia the Cossacks would fight against such forces.

METHODS OF THE MANITOBA RURAL CREDIT SOCIETY

Under the Manitoba Rural Credit Act, operation of the Roblin Rural Credit Society became possible. Enthusiasts for this form of co-operation in the securing of funds for farming are acquiring the society's success, and its methods in securing and placing loans an improvement on the individual approach of the farmer to the bank or other institution doing business in money accommodation. But the Roblin Rural Credit society is an applicant itself for credit from the bank on the co-operative basis of its operations in availing itself of a credit line from one bank which beginning at $25,000 has been extended to $50,000. And officers of the society are reported to be well satisfied with the hearty co-operation of the bank in supplying money for the loans made by the society to its members.

According to an article on the subject by R. D. Colquhoun in Grain Growers' Guide the standing of the Roblin Rural Credit Society is represented as follows:

A membership of 55. Fifty members were required to form a society of this sort under the Act. Seventy of the members have made application for loans. Sixty-four have been granted, and these amount to a total of $42,241 secured by $27,315 in surplus assets.

Each of the subscribers has agreed to take $10 in stock in the society paying $10 down, and the balance at call. The present standing of the society is indicated by the following financial report made out on AUG. 9: Capital authorized—$25,000

Subscribed Paid-Up Stock subscribed by farmers—$1,500 $500
Stock subscribed by municipality—2,500 250
Total—$4,000 $750

Number of shareholders at incorporation—57
Number as at August 9, 1913—55

Application for a loan is made on a regular form, on which is stated the amount of money required, the purposes for which it is intended to be used; the date of payment, and the rate of interest. The application for a loan is accompanied by a complete statement of the applicant's affairs. Before a loan is approved it must be passed by a majority of the full board of directors. If only seven of the nine directors are present the votes will have to be five or two in favor of the loan before it is granted. Loans mature on December 31 of each year, subject to renewal under special circumstances, where return cannot be expected till the round of these seasons.

The society does not handle the money loaned. All loans granted are guaranteed by the society, by the signature and secretary's signature to the applicant. Seven per cent. is therefore paid by the bank direct on the credit granted, but the money the rate of interest charged, one per cent. of which goes to the credit of the society being credited to its account in the bank, the other six per cent. being the amount allowed the bank on loans.

EUROPE'S FISH CATCH DROPS

The total catch of cod by Norwegians in the 1913 season just ended was only 6,000,000 pounds, as compared to 15,000,000 pounds in 1917. Most of this catch was on the north-west coast, owing to the submarine menace to the south. Reports from Holland indicate that the catch for all fish for 1917 in the Netherlands was but 33,739 tons, as compared with 133,960 tons in 1916. English fish production has also been seriously handicapped by the division of trawlers to war work. Plans are now under consideration to increase the export of dried fish from Canada to Europe.

HE LACKED EXPERIENCE

A farmer went one day to buy a bushel of buckwheat for sowing. The man who sold the grain was away, and his wife waited on the customer. She took a peck measure and they went to the granary. After filling the measure twice she poured the contents into the bag and began tying it. "But," remonstrated the farmer, "it takes four pecks to make a bushel." "Oh, does it?" returned the woman, untying the bag. "You see I never had any experience in measuring grain before I was married. I always taught school."

ECONOMY THAT IS BLINDFOLDED

"When you come to think of it, isn't it funny how many men and women go blind—play a sort of commercial 'Blind Man's Buff'—with their money?"

This is the game the big city department stores are constantly striving to keep going. They spend millions every year in training people to get into this big game—and of course the public pays back those millions with compound interest. They must, or the catalogue parasites wouldn't be able to keep going—and growing.

Of course you don't have to do your shopping blindfolded unless you want to—no you DON'T HAVE to fall for the big fellow's bait.

Besides that, it's a mighty dangerous game for you to play in OUR community. If we continue to play it, we get a majority of our people enmeshed in it, we will soon find out that we have been blindly DIGGING OUR COMMUNITY GRAVE. It really isn't a fair game either to ourselves or our community. It isn't fair to the local merchant. He is working with us, co-operating, and helping in no small degree to the up-building, sustaining and improving of all our HOME INSTITUTIONS. He is fair to US; let us be fair to him—and fair with ourselves. All any home merchant asks for is fair chance. Surely he's entitled to that. He's entitled by every rule of logic to a FAIR chance and a FIRST chance.

Price Versus Quality
Despite the enlightenment of the age, it is astonishing how many people are still unaware of the two outstanding THINGS that keep the big catalogue houses furnished with new customers and get a good many "repeaters" besides.

Trick No. 1 constitutes the heavy featuring of a few "leaders" in their catalogues. These leaders tempt many people, chiefly the women, we regret to say, to buy a big bill of goods. You may get even a good bargain on some of the heavily featured articles, but you pay dear enough for them, you may be sure with the stiff jolt you get on the remainder of the order—and 99 per cent. of the catalogue patrons order extravagantly heavy once the Big Blindfolded Game gets to the habit stage. THAT'S WHY MAIL ORDER MAGNATES ARE MILLIONAIRES—men who have a large voice in our government halls.

Trick No. 2 is an obvious one, but one that is also overlooked by the people who send away.

To give you a better grasp of the meaning of trick No. 2, we will ask a question: "How many times have you ever seen the big mail order houses advertise standard makes of goods?" It is but very rarely such goods are advertised, and when they are you can invariably get them just as cheaply at home.

No, friends; inferior quality, and what the trade calls "seconds" are a chief mainstay of the catalogue house.

No matter what arguments you use, you are always better off by being a consistent patron of the home dealer. No man or woman who habitually sends abroad for their goods ever save a dollar in the long run. It's impossible—the tricks of the mail order house won't let you. But they are subtle and cunning.

BUTTER MAKER, BEWARE!

An order-in-council of August 10th provides that butter made from the product of less than fifty cows shall be marked for sale as "dairy" butter. Butter made from the product of fifty cows or more must be marked "creamery" butter.

Dairy butter for the above defined if packed in boxes for sale must be marked "dairy butter." If dry butter is wrapped in parchment the parchment must be marked "dairy butter."

These regulations are enforced by a fine of not less than $10 and not more than $20 with costs.

A dealer who knowingly sells dairy butter in boxes unless the boxes are marked "dairy butter," or who sells mixed dairy and creamery butter that is not marked "dairy butter," or who sells butter in wrappers that is not marked "dairy butter," is liable to a fine of not less than $10 nor more than $20, with costs.

Between the oleomargarine factories on the one hand and creameries on the other the humble homesteader who is exhorted to go into mixed farming gets it coming and going from the new Minister of Agriculture.

MUST NOT BURN STRAW STACKS

Because of the serious situation developing in Alberta and Saskatchewan so far as feed for live stock is concerned, particularly for cattle, winter an order in council has been passed prohibiting the burning of all straw stacks remaining over from last year in the three prairie provinces.

Will YOU Give 3-4 Cents a Day to Keep A Child From Starving?

If you will, read this appeal carefully then decide what share you will take in helping avert the greatest tragedy of all time.

1,250,000 CHILDREN ARE FACING SLOW STARVATION IN BELGIUM TODAY.

The Belgian Relief Commission has not the means to supply these growing children with the food that is necessary. THE SITUATION IS SERIOUS. This great relief fund has largely been administered through Americans; the break between the States and Germany has brought about a crisis; there is more need of funds now than at any previous time.

THE GREAT RELIEF WORK MUST AND WILL GO ON. WE MUST DO OUR SHARE.

At the present time the growing child in Belgium receives only a "hunk of bread and a bowl of soup" each day. It is not enough; they must have more—or starve.

For 3-4 cents a day the Relief Commission can supply one child with an extra "meal" of a biscuit made with fat or lard and a cup of cocoa, not much, but it is the difference between life and death, between health and disease, for the children of heroic Belgium.

ALBERTA HAS BEEN BLESSED WITH TWO RECORD-BREAKING CROPS.

We are prosperous—the future looks bright—we are in a position to help. How many starving children can you feed after? How many will we look after?

HOW MANY WILL YOU FEED?

$12.00 a year, the price the Alberta farmer received for eight bushels of his wheat, will give this extra "meal" to one child for a whole year. 10c a day or $36.00 a year will keep three children from starvation. $60.00 a year will feed five; $120.00 a year will feed 10.

WERE YOU EVER HUNGRY?

Can you picture starvation, the pinched faces, the piteous cries?

IF THE CHILDREN WERE STARVING IN ALBERTA you would help—

YOU WILL HELP IN THIS CASE

You can't pass by the children's cry for food from starving Belgium! AND YOU MUST ACT NOW

The thought that you are feeding some of these unfortunate each day will bring you happiness. Think of the eager little hands reaching for the meal you supply.

Your own meals will taste sweeter when you do your share. The paper in which you are reading this is doing its share by publishing this appeal without charge—WHAT WILL YOU DO?

You may send contributions by the week, month, or in one lump sum. You are ASSURED that your money is used for the purpose it is sent.

THERE ARE HUNGRY CHILDREN AWAITING YOUR DECISION. HOW MANY WILL YOU FEED?

THE BORIS HAMBURG TOUR

Boris Hamburg, who is to-day recognized as one of the greatest cellists since the days of Alfredo Piatti, was born at Voronez, Southern Russia, in 1884. The third son of the late Michael Hamburg, a prominent professional of music, he absorbed a musical atmosphere from his birth.

In 1890, when he was but six years old, he came with his parents to London, England, the Hamburg family taking out their British naturalization papers the same year.

Boris' musical education began in London when he was eight years old, and at first his very marked talents were devoted to the piano. A preference for the cello, however, soon asserted itself strongly, and he was first placed with Herbert Watson and a few years later, Professor Hugh Becker accepted him as a pupil at Dr. Hoch's Conservatorium at Frankfurt on the Main. Hearing the young artist at Frankfurt, in 1901, the great Joachim predicted a brilliant future for him.

Boris Hamburg will be at the Rex Clareholm, on Wednesday, Sept. 11th.

MEADOW CREEK RIPS

The Meadow Creek W. B. S. S. Ry., a surprise party Friday evening to Mr. and Mrs. C. Hooper. Owing to the S. S. there were but few present. Among these were Mrs. Hamlyn and daughter Miss Viola, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Mr. J. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. J. Carey and Mr. and Miss Francis.

We wonder if someone has not got a cache of whiskey on the premises of Hoopers? We notice a suspicious looking character hanging around there lately.

One would think that the sheep herding days were again in possession of this locality, as we notice herding cattle is the chief occupation of some who should be haying at present.

Will the person who took the cattle and horses from the pound last week kindly call and pay charges, as business is not done that way in 11-28.

Who's the new matrimonial rumor about?

The matrimonial fever still is raging in this district, but it seems that those who ought to catch it are proof again at the germ.

No need for the former correspondent to "catch the ripples" apparently, as there seems plenty who are willing to do it if they can. Not that it is as easy as it sounds, but with the phone it helps matters some.

Many of the few boys left in this better will be singing "Goodbye Meadow Creek, Hello France" before long. Better make hay while the sun shines, girls.

If critics would turn their attention to Red Cross work instead of the duties of some of the residents, the soldiers would have more comfort and we would enjoy more comfort also. Why not give it a try?

OLD CHAMPION FARMER

SUICIDES BY POISON

One of Champion's oldest farmers Carl D. Paulson, committed suicide on Thursday, August 22nd. His farm was one mile north of Clareholm.

Mr. Paulson was last seen alive on the morning of the 22nd by his hired man, going in the direction of an old granary. As he was missing after that a search was instituted and the dead body was found in the granary half past nine at night. An empty bottle which had contained strychnine was lying by his side. Coroner Humphries of Leithridge, was immediately sent for. He saw the body and decided that circumstances did not justify a coroner's inquest. The only person who was on the scene for the suicide is that Mr. Paulson has been in very bad health for the past four or five years.

BRITAIN'S WORK IN THE WAR

Great Britain's contribution to the success of the Allies was made public here on the eve of the forty-first anniversary of the United Kingdom's entrance upon the war, by the British Bureau of Information of the British War Mission.

The bureau which enumerates a more other than the fact that Great Britain and her colonies have raised 7,500,000 soldiers, of whom 500,000 have been slain and 2,000,000 are wounded or missing. Besides herself, it is said, has furnished 60 per cent of the fighters and suffered 76 per cent of the casualties.

British soldiers have fought on seventeen fronts in the past four years, including Belgium, France, Italy, Serbia, Greece, Russia, Palestine, Mesopotamia, China, and North and West Africa.

The British expenditure of rifle ammunition per week is now sixty-five times greater than the average weekly expenditure during the first ten months of the struggle.

The machine gun output is thirty-nine times greater.

The ministry of munitions now handles 50,000,000 articles a week and in addition to more than ninety aeroplanes, Great Britain manufactures night-controlled factories, all working night and day on munitions and supplies.

The British navy has trebled its personnel and doubled its fighting armament since entering the war. It and the coastguard marine have transported overseas 13,000,000 men 2,000,000 tons of explosives, 51,000,000 tons of oil and fuel, and 130,000,000 tons of food and other stores.

The ill-omened word "kultur" comes in for a savage analysis. Professor von Seyden in the first issue of the war, said: "The Germans are the elect people of the earth. They will accomplish their destiny, and it is to rule the world and to guide all other nations for their common happiness."

The bureau answers von Seyden by presenting a table of the latest form of crime committed in Germany and England during the ten years, 1897-1907, as follows:

	Ger-	Eng-
Murder.....	350	97
Larceny.....	273	56
Auto. Crimes.....	831	216
Unnatural Crimes.....	841	290
Malignant and felonious mischief.....	172,153	1,562
Malicious damage to property.....	25,759	378
Arson.....	610	278

Total..... 209,687 2,537

"People of America, the authors of the bureau's report says in conclusion 'your fathers and mothers, wives, sisters, and sweethearts of the men you have sent to France. Can you study that table. Kultur should be known by its results, and if 'enlightened' England can show us a 'superior' 'enlightened' Germany, is it not worth four years war to keep your country and ours clear of the stain of kultur?—New York Times.

WHEAT AND WORLD SAFETY

The New York Commercial points out that for 20 years the world has been on the edge of a wheat famine. Only those who have studied grain statistics have realized it, but the surplus carried over from one year to another has been dwindling, and for a long time has been insufficient to protect consumers against a serious crop failure.

"A reserve of wheat must be accumulated on this continent at any cost," says the newspaper. "Corn will not take the place of wheat as a reserve, because corn does not keep well, and cornmeal and cornflour do not stand shipment overseas in warm weather."

"England is producing about 70 per cent of her own domestic requirements this year, but France and Italy are raising less food than they did before the war. Some slight increase may be obtained from Spain and North America, but not enough to offset the decreases in France and Italy. Canada and the United States must produce the wheat and most of the other foodstuffs, and they are doing it by a perilously narrow margin."

"We must try to save some of this year's wheat as a reserve to protect us from a short crop next year, and we must add to the acreage of winter wheat in the southern hemisphere in the course of the next year it will not be sufficient for the reserve which the world should have. This is a time to consume wheat lavishly. We are not out of the wood, and the world will not be safe until it accumulates a surplus of at least 700,000,000 bushels of wheat to carry over from year to year."

There will be no sugar available this year for British consumption, according to a recent statement of the chairman of the Sugar Commission. The sugar crop is about 100,000 tons less than estimated. Conservation of sugar for preserving time is imperative upon every household.

Farmers are Stopping the Profit-Eating Leaks This Year

Comparatively few farmers fail or lose heavily because of misfortune such as fire, wind or drought. The majority of failures and losses are from combined little leaks, and it is the many little leaks that are being stopped this year.

HERE ARE SOME OF THEM—Feeding Wastes, Disease from Unsanitary Buildings, Unprotected Machinery. These are others but here are enough to kill the profits on any farm.

THE REMEDY—Concrete Granary Foundations and Floors, Concrete Barn and Hog House Floors, a Machine Shed. None of them are expensive and each will quickly pay for itself. Call and let us give you prices.

SPECULATORS TAKE NOTICE!

The Canada Food Board has warned dealers in apples and potatoes that the Board will not hesitate to take any action that may be necessary to check speculation in this year's crop of these products. "In negotiating for the purchase or sale of apples, potatoes or other roots due consideration should be given to the possibility of some action being taken by this Board," the statement reads.

Three glimpses appeared in the Goodrich Police Court, charged under the law which requires men between the ages of 16 and 60 to be engaged in some useful occupation. All three pleaded guilty but were given a chance to dispose of their horses and dog work.

Butchers in Birmingham, England, have undertaken to buy bones back after the housewife has made full use of them, paying the customer half of proceeds of their disposal. They are used for the extraction of glycerine and for the manufacture of phosphorus for fertilizer and valuable pig and poultry food.

GOOD REPORTS OF S.O.S. BOYS

Ontario Headquarters has reported as follows: "Ontario farmers everywhere are enthusiastic about the boys' services. The boys are making good. We estimate that 9,000 boys from cities and towns and as many more farm boys are working as soldiers of the Soil."
